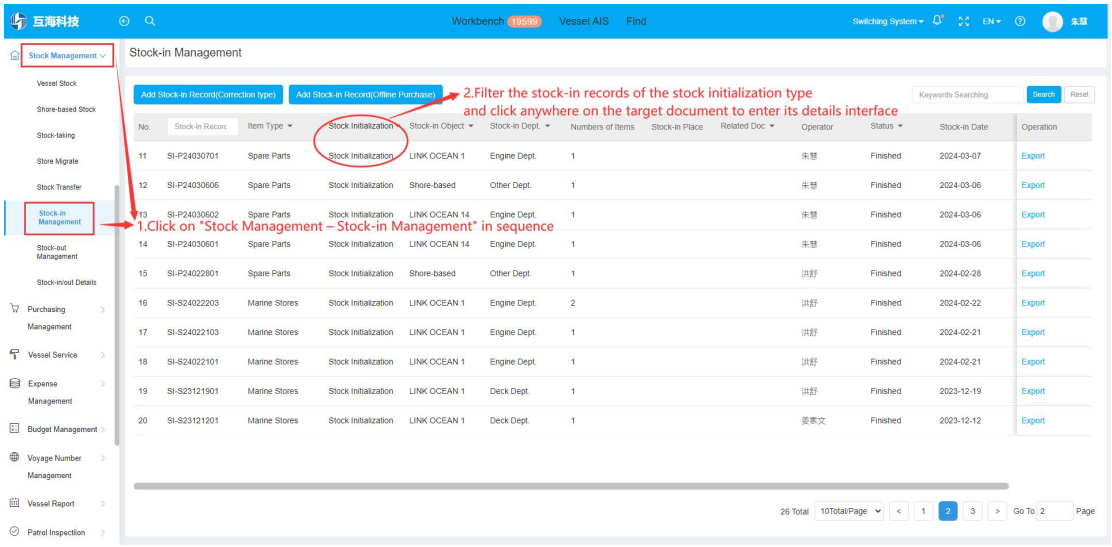
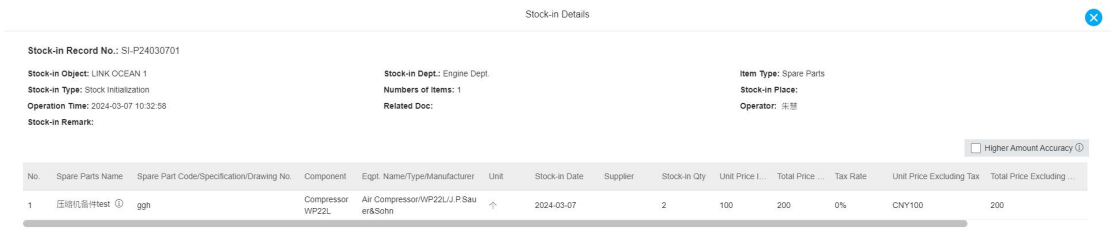
How to cancel the initialized stock record that has been imported into the system on the web side (document)

After the user imports the item stock into the OLISS system through the stock initialization function, the stock entry form will be automatically generated in the stock in management interface, and the type of entry is: stock initialization. If the initialization data is found to be incorrect after import, the initialization stock in record can be revoked at this time.

Users log in to the OLISS Web side, and in the "Stock Management → Stock in Management" interface, they can operate according to the following steps 1-3:





Next step:

After the stock-in record is canceled, the record will display "Stock Initialization (Cancel)" in the stock-in management interface.
